13 2021 oct 27 2022 have you looked at your owners manual to see if they have a viscosity chart for your car yes it is very strict to using 10w 40 before doing oil changes myself the mechanic put in 10w 50 without my knowledge at the time years ago and fuel consumption went up about 1 litre 100km but engine felt the same when it comes to lift kits you usually need to start out with something kind of basic to get you up in the air and if you want performance shocks and coilover assemblies you kind of need to piece them together yourself 1998 2006 s class w220 owners at some point during the ownership will experience air suspension
